Special Notice.

It Has Lately Come to Our Knowledge

that some of our customers for fresh fish and oysters are in the habit of telling their friends that with second quality fish No 2 stock at small prices and tell their customers that they procure the fish from us. We do not keep this second quality fish cheap and their object is, therefore to induce people to think they change their customers the same that we change our fish from No 2 to store fish.

To Prevent These People from Using our name to dispose of their worthless goods we shall in the future put our card in every package we sell of us by retail grocers and meat market men, so that the consumer will find in our package goods you may know the fish was not from us. We sold twenty years experience in the fish business and handle but first quality No 1 stock. Do not take chances of being imposed upon by the second quality fish.

A STEEL RANGE

Modesty would be expected to prevent praise of his own goods if anyone else should do so, but it is remarkable that one of the large steel ranges of the country explains themselves. Mr Joe Bell, of Munising, says:

"I sold for six years a large number of steel ranges, largely on sentiment, the one owning it being proud of it, but proved among buyers very largely that any steel range has some sentiment to it. But I do not sell constant contact with heat as a rule, but it gets shipworn readily, the heat is more than it can stand, the equilibrium of the parts is lost, the ovens get out of shape, and it is likely to burn off. They are also exposed to all the elements in regard to draught and baking, and difficulty in the management of them by persons who use them, and I would reiterate what I have said, that I do not consider in my own mind, although we sell them, I have made them for ten years and probably will continue to make them—I do not consider them as suitable for family use, as a class, such as range."

RELIEF OF WM. J. BRYAN.

A Bill Which Caused a Laugh in the Senate.

Contest Over Seating Senator Appointed by Governor of Florida.

Several Matters of Interest in the Upper Branch Tuesday.

Washington, March 16. In the Senate today the President's message will be being read yesterday was tabled, was on motion of Mr. Morrill, referred to the Finance Committee.

The credentials of Mr. John A. Henderson appointed by the governor of Florida to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of Mr. Call were presented and read and Mr. Pasco asked that Mr. Henderson be sworn into office.

This request was antagonized by Senators Allen, Chandler and Hoar on the ground that under the decision of the Senate in the Lee Mantle and other cases such appointments by the governor were not in compliance with the constitution.

An additional point of objection was noted by Mr. Hoar in that the appointment in this case was made to continue "until the legislature should elect." The Governor, he argued, had no such power. He could only appoint until the next meeting of the legislature. In fact the Governor's appointment of Mr. Henderson might last not for six years only but forever if the legislature did not elect. Senator Allison, of Iowa, said Mr. Hoar, were on the same footing and there ought to be a well considered careful decision with respect to them, that they report from the Committee on Privileges and Elections and afterwards by the action of the Senate.

It was much more important for the Senate to extricate itself from the mud into which it had got by its action in the Montana and Washington cases than that a Senator should get his seat a week or two earlier. He hoped that under the circumstances the Senator from Florida would not insist upon having a long debate on the matter now.

Mr. Pasco stated the points in which the present case differed from the other. He and argued in favor of the immediate seating of Mr. Henderson.

Mr. Allen moved the referring of the credentials to the Committee on Privileges and Elections.

After a long and dry discussion Mr. Allen's motion was agreed to and the credentials were referred the Committee on Privileges and Elections. In the meantime the Senators claiming seats under appointment of the Governors of States were accorded the privileges of the floor.

Many bills were introduced and referred, among them bills (by Mr. Allen) directing the forfeiture of the government lien on the Union Pacific R. R., to prevent the over capitalization of companies doing interstate carrying, trades, to prevent professional lobbying, to preserve the purity of national legislation, to increase the circulating medium. All together some forty bills were introduced by Mr. Allen—most of them relics of the last Congress. A bill to facilitate the construction, working and maintenance of telegraphic communication between the United States, the Hawaiian Islands, Japan and Australasia was introduced by Mr. Chandler on behalf of Mr. Hale. Also a bill to provide for the twelfth and subsequent censuses. A bill for a government telegraph was introduced by Mr. Kyle and one to amend the immigration laws by Mr. Lodge.

A bill for the relief of Wm. J. Bryan, when its title was read, caused a general laugh. A bill to increase all pension allowances was introduced by Mr. Gorman. A new Nicaragua canal bill was introduced by Mr. Morgan. A bill to create a board of trustees of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific railroad companies and fund their bonded debts. Also a joint resolution declaring the Bulwer Clayton treaty abrogated. Bankruptcy bills were introduced by Senators Hoar and Nelson.

Altogether 238 bills were introduced and referred, most of them comprising in the last Congress.

A bill granting a pension of $50 a month to the widow of Brig. Gen. John B. Sevenson was introduced by Mr. Vest and passed. A resolution was offered by Mr. Frye calling for copies of all orders, circulars or instructions and all correspondence with engineer officers in charge of public works relative to the application of the civil service rules in the operation of works in charge of the engineer department. He rendered an audible whisper that he wanted to get rid of the civil service which was an awful outrage.

Is that a step, Mr. Cockrell asked, in the direction of abolishing the civil service law?

I regard it, Mr. Frye replied, as a step in favor of abolishing civil service rules as it has they relate to the employment of laborers and surveyors in the construction of public works.

Their employment by contractors or by army engineers? Mr. Hawley inquired.

By the engineers, Mr. Frye replied. It is simply this. The civil service rules have been extended by the President over the employment of all manner of services through the engineer department of the government so if an officer sees up Columbia river wants to hire a laborer for a piece of work, the laborer must have a certificate from the civil service commission. And so in the case of a surveyor who may be wanted for two or three days. It is interfering with all improvements of rivers and harbors and is absolutely absurd and stupid.

The resolution was agreed to. Mr. Vest gave notice of amendments to the rules, providing that no report be received by the Senate from any committee unless the report has been considered by the committee attended by a quorum of its members.

After a short executive session in which to-day's nominations were referred, the Senate adjourned till Thursday.

MAINE LEGISLATURE.

Hearing on Bangor Street Railway Matter Tuesday.

Bangor Street Railway Wants General Law to Compel B. O. & O. to Pay It.

The State College Resolve Debate Begun and Will be Continued To-day.

Augusta, Me., March 16. There was a long and busy session of the Legislature this morning and numerous committee hearings were held this afternoon.

In the House orders were introduced for all committees to report finally on Friday and for two sessions daily afternoon and evening.

Both orders were tabled in the Senate. A resolve was introduced for $60 for two years for the Penobscot Institute. Many resolves were taken from the table and put on passage.

Representatives Patten of Amherst, and Britton of Buckport were excused for the rest of the session. In the division on the seat of the town of Berwick (report favoring the petitioners for division) leave to withdraw was accepted, 102 to 6.

In the Senate after the disposal of routine matters the State College resolve was taken up and a long and lively debate which was participated in by Messrs. Cleason of Kennebec, Emery of Penobscot, Stearns of Aroostook and Reynolds of Cumberland.

At 1 p. m. the matter was laid over to be taken up Wednesday, as unfinished business.

Mr. Cleason of Kennebec took from the table the College resolve and a heated debate followed.

Mr. Wade of Androscoggin moved striking out the appropriation to $30,000 and Mr. Cleason another reducing it to $15,000 and directing the trustees to charge tuition.

Mr. Savage, of Androscoggin, presented an amendment confining the claim of the appropriation to two years.

Senator Cleason opposed the resolve.

Mr. Parsons of Piscataquis made a strong speech supporting the college. The amendment he said asked does to cut down the appropriation to $1,000 and tuition. He didn't care to say much about the commissioners' report which Mr. Cleason attempted to bolster up. When these gentlemen who had attacked the college had become governors and senators he hoped this attempted blow at the institution would furnish them food for reflection.

Mr. Stearns of Aroostook argued that it is an obligation of the state to give every boy and girl an opportunity to obtain an education which will fit them for the highest duties of life. The battling politicians were to be restrained. He declared that the objects of the institution had been perverted. The college was fulfilling its purpose when it took the son of toil and fitted him for a vocation which required the services of the brightest and keenest minds.

He referred to the chief executive against and said his judgment could not influence his vote and he thought not any other Senator. He could not bind the words of the Governor only as one of the constituents which he is. Any attempt of the Governor to influence members of the body except by executive message may detract from his standing in this high office.

Notes.

In the Senate today Mr. Stearns of Aroostook presented an amendment to the law for the punishment of persons convicted of intoxication which provides for the second or any subsequent offence a punishment shall be not exceeding 60 days imprisonment in a jail of 30 days in prison. A communication of Mayor Strong of New York was read in which he invited the governor and his staff to attend the formal transfer to the city of the Grant monument on April 27 and any troops who may desire to attend.

A determined effort is being made to adjourn the last of next week.

Bangor Street Railway Hearing.

(Special dispatch to Bangor Commercial.)

Augusta, Me., March 16. The Bangor Street Railway Committee gave a hearing this afternoon, the Bangor Street Railway Co. vs. the Bangor, Orono and Oldtown R. R. Co. monopoly being most of the time. Hon. A. M. Spear of Gardiner appeared for the Bangor Street Railway Co., which desires a general law compelling the Bangor, Orono and Oldtown Co. to pay for all time $5,000 a year for the privilege of running into Bangor over 1½ miles of track belonging to the former company.

Hon. E. M. Heath, of Augusta, appeared for the Bangor, Orono and Oldtown R. R. in opposition to the bill, and asked for more time to put in evidence.

CHECK PASSER ABROAD.

Bangor House Said to Be Among the Victims of Sharper.

Portsmouth, N. H., March 16. Last week a man who gave the name of A. J. Buchanan and claimed to be the agent of the Standard Oil Co. got the manager of one of the leading hotels in this city to cash a check for $60 drawn on the Standard Oil Co. signed by W. J. Calkins. The check was returned today as a forgery. It is learned that similar checks for the same amount were cashed by the proprietors of the Bangor House, Bangor, and West End Hotel, Portland. Buchanan formerly worked for the Standard Oil Co.

TALKED WITH BRAM.

Alleged Story of a Prisoner in an Adjoining Cell.

Intimated that Confession Will be Made if He Has to Die.

Bram Said to Have Been Afraid of Capt. Nash and Very Jealous.

Boston, March 16. The Globe will tomorrow print a statement from a person confined in Charlestown jail for 20 days in a cell adjoining that occupied by Thomas Bram, the convicted murderer of Capt. Nash and which if true, brings out a good many points as regards the motive and circumstances surrounding the tragedy and suggests a possibility that a confession may be made. If all possible legal attempts to save his life shall fail.

Hamlin Charles H. Avery of Natick committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of forgery but again plead not guilty and was found. During his confinement he kept a diary of events and in this book he recorded the conversation he had with Bram the door of which cell was only lattices from this window in Avery's cell.

Upon Avery's release he communicated with District attorney and gave him the substance of his conversations with Bram.

By the statements laid before District Attorney Hollis it is set forth that Bram hated Capt. Nash would break him for incompetency and had resolved to the rank of common sailor, that Bram was jealous of the attention shown the second mate by Capt. Nash and that the captain gave the second mate opinion in matters touching the management of the vessel that he was jealous of the captain's ability.

Bram had a fixed opinion of his own bravery and his ability to outwit others on the ship for which he had formed a deep and murderous hatred.

In these statements do they run with Bram is reported in which the latter asks what he could do if failed to get a fair trial. He was told of prisoners who was saved from the gallows at the last moment by appealing to the Christian sentiment of the public, even on a confession of his crime.

Bram asked what his chances would be with the public if he made a confession and was told overwhelmingly that such a course should only be taken when he had no other.

Very stately in giving his story that he has come to the conclusion that Bram is guilty. He went to the jail with outside friends as Bram walked but from the door of his cell was only lattices from this window in Avery's cell.

Very stately in giving his story that he has come to the conclusion that Bram is guilty. He went to the jail with outside friends as Bram walked out. He will wear no bonds on his hands to-morrow. Corbett is absolutely without blemish.

Murders usually tend more hard on a man and there is not a sore tendon or aching joint in his body. He never relied to scratch while training, and was returned yesterday cool and collected. The Australian is more roughed than Corbett and has more to the ability of the latter. Bettingmen are now betting this morning by report which has money to bet. After looking, then over carefully he decided not to wager a dollar. He bets against Fitzsimmons. Corbett's low Corbett, Green and Hawkins are the favorites. Fitz Smith and Fisher are second choice.

The long looked for specials from east and last arrived today and discharged additions to the crowd which already has severely taxed the resources of the town. The attendance will not be as large as anticipated. Between 1500 and 500 people is perhaps a correct estimate.

The overwhelming confidence of Corbett and Fitzsimmons is a puzzle to sports. It is unquestionably genuine and leads to think that the last of any one who is inclined to waver about picking the winner.

The prevailing opinion seems to be that the duration of the fight will be limited to 15 rounds. Judging by the betting the number of the favorite will be under 10 rounds comes to second.

No one is inclined to think the battle will be long. The interpretation of the rules will allow hitting in all clinches and by knowing approaches to counteract the tactics of a short right. Dim Sullivan agrees with the majority since he has put his money on Corbett he intends to follow the big event.

Prof. Walter Watson, of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, who later drilled with Corbett, brought out Corbett in boxing at Colorado Springs a month ago and which he is favored in his training quarters on Long Island. Bookmaker this morning in the most severe manner will not take bets on Fitzsimmons

A Doleful Wail

The free traders are at it again and are already predicting an increase in the cost of living as a result of the new tariff bill. In this work the New York Herald as might be expected is a leader. It makes no difference to these free trade advocates that their contention is absolutely in conflict with the facts of history under a protective tariff. Having dealt in misrepresentation for years it has become a second nature to them to malign the tariff. The only striking feature of the present crusade is to be found in the fact that the men engaged in it are growing beautifully less in number.

There is nothing like experience to open the eyes of the people and experience they have had in solid chunks for the past few years. The result is seen in the very manifest change in public sentiment. Men who have heretofore joined with the Herald and papers of its class in denunciation of a protective tariff are to-day loudest in their demands for a restoration of the system they have so long opposed through ignorance of its actual operation. This information has come from studying the results of the Wilson tariff legislation now on the statute books. As against this experience the shop worn theories of the Herald which have so often been disproved carry no weight. Instead of increasing the cost of living the effect of a protective tariff has always been the reverse.

Competition has depressed prices and at the same time afforded the people the means with which to secure the necessaries and many of the luxuries of life a condition readily picking under the recent Administration. Our free trade contemporary is evidently very sad over the cost of living but the fact has gone forth and it may as well accept the inevitable with the best possible grace. The people have ordered a new deal and protection is the trump card.

A Century's Extra Sessions

In connection with the extra session of Congress which convened Monday the 15th it is a fact worth noting that this is the thirteenth time it has assembled in extraordinary session since the formation of the present Government of the United States. Including President McKinley ten Presidents have called Congress together in extraordinary session and three Presidents have each performed this duty twice and it lacked Monday only two months of one hundred years from the time the first extra session of Congress convened in Philadelphia at the call of John Adams who had summoning Congress together felt obliged to apologize for the personal inconvenience to members of the Senate and House of Representatives in leaving their families and private affairs at this season of the year.

It was the Fifth Congress which thus came together May 15 1797 and the task imposed upon it was to provide means to prevent the depredations on American commerce and the impressment of American seamen. Six years and five months later, or on October 17, 1803 President Jefferson convoked the Eighth Congress in extra session to provide for carrying into effect the treaty by which Louisiana had been purchased from the Emperor Napoleon, and again on October 26, 1807 the Tenth Congress came together in extra session on the call of President Jefferson the occasion being the attack of the British warship Leopard on the Chesapeake. The embargo act was passed at this session. James Madison also called two extra sessions of Congress the first one of the Twelfth Congress which met November 4 1811, and the second of the Thirteenth Congress, which met September 19 1813. The business of both these sessions related to the war of 1812.

President Monroe, John Quincy Adams and Jackson escaped the necessity of calling extra sessions of Congress but the financial crisis which began in 1837 compelled President Van Buren to bring the Twenty fifth Congress together on September 4 of that year, to legislate on the monetary situation. President William Henry Harrison did not live to see the extra session of the Twenty seventh Congress he had called for May 31, 1841, but it met with President John Tyler in the White House. The administrations of Presidents Polk, Taylor and Fillmore were free of extra Congressional sessions and it was not until August 21 1850 that the Thirty fourth Congress came together in extra session at the call of President Pierce, the failure of the army and navy appropriation bills having made such a session necessary. This completes the extra sessions called by the earlier Presidents and brings the record down to 1861 when the new era began.

The most important extra session of Congress which has convened in the history of the Government met July 4 1861. It was the Thirty seventh Congress and it was convoked by Abraham Lincoln. It met at the most momentous crisis in the existence of the nation. In his famous proclamation calling this Congress together President Lincoln gave as a reason for his action that the laws of the United States have been for some time past and now are opposed and the execution thereof obstructed in the States of South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas by combinations too powerful to be suppressed by the ordinary course of judicial proceedings or in the powers vested in the marshals by law. * * * Now, therefore I, Abraham Lincoln, etc. The brief session which followed will probably never be surpassed in public interest. The Speaker of the House of Representatives was Galusha A. Grow of Pennsylvania.

Congress was in nearly continuous session during the next ten years, although formal extra sessions were not called. But President Hayes was compelled to call the Forty fifth Congress together in extra session October 15, 1877, and the Forty-sixth Congress March 18, 1879, on account of the failure of appropriation bills. The only remaining extra session of Congress was called by President Cleveland and it met August 7, 1893. Its wranglings and dissensions gave the country early and conclusive proof of the failure of the Administration now just closed. The nation looks forward with no such apprehension to the thirteenth extra session which convenes to-day at the call of President McKinley.

Is Our History Mistaught?

The Brooklyn Standard-Union says: All the fools are not yet dead in the South. Some of them in Virginia recently took offence at the remark of Bishop McDaniel, of Boston, who, in a sermon in Baltimore last Sunday, characterized the spirit of the emblem of the Confederacy as the rebel emblem a "disgraceful, abominable and infamous rag."

Thereupon some one, or more, with no better use for their money, spent a sufficient amount of it to buy and express to the Bishop while he was at Roanoke, a specimen of the flag he had condemned, with some high flown typewritten matter about the noblest heroes the world ever produced, etc. etc., just as if an attempt to rivet the chains on one's fellow men was an act of heroism. The Bishop burned the flag and letter, but incidentally remarked that if the agitators wished to go farther they might hear from him again.

It really isn't worth while, however, to argue with these fellows. The only thing there is any use in doing is to see to it that the rising generation is taught to estimate the Confederate struggle at its true value. And this recalls the fact that members of the Grand Army of the Republic at the West have lately found reason to complain of the alleged histories of the United States supplied to the public schools in that section. They say that these are misleading, that they give pupils no adequate idea of the merits of the war for the preservation of the Union and leave them to infer that one side was as meritorious as the other. Worse yet, these text books, the veterans say, laud the Southern soldiers and belittle the Northern or more properly speaking, the Union armies.

Such text books should not be allowed in any public school of the land. The Southern authors cannot, perhaps, be blamed for not wanting to bear too hard on the defeated side but to belittle their former opponents belittles their own side. And sooner or later the boys and young men must learn the truth. Nobody at the North denies that the Southern soldiers fought bravely and stubbornly, but they hold uncompromisingly that the men of the Confederacy were wrong, eternally wrong and the upholders of the Union were right, eternally right. Let the Confederacy stay buried, but let there be no misinstruction of the youth of the land regarding it.

Harper's Weekly
With the issue of 1896 Harper's Weekly will have lived forty years. In that time it has participated with all the zeal and power at its command in the great political events of the most interesting and important period in the history of the country, and it has gained before its readers a knowledge of the progress of science, art and letters for the instruction of the human mind and the amelioration of human conditions and of manners.
What the Weekly has been in its spirit and purpose as these have been manifested primarily in its editorial pages it will continue to be. It is impossible to announce with precision all that the Weekly will contain during the year 1897. It were as easy to announce what is about to happen in the world, what triumphs for good government are to be won, what advances of the people are to be made, what is to be the outcome of the continuous struggle between the spirits of war and peace, what is to happen in the Far East, what is to be the state of Europe twelve months hence, what new marvels of science are to be revealed, or what are to be the achievements of art and letters, for the Weekly is to be a chronicle and record of all this.
Cartoons will continue to be a feature.
Serial Stories. A new England story by Miss Mary E. Wilkins will begin in January. A tale of a Greek uprising against the Turks by Mr. F. F. Benson, the author of "Dodo," will follow. A sequel to "The House Boat on the Styx," by Mr. John Kendrick Bangs, illustrated by Mr. Peter Newell.
More Short Stories will appear in the Weekly than it has been possible to publish during 1896.
Departments. Mr. W. D. Howells "Life and Letters" have been among the most charming features of periodical literature. Mr. F. P. Martin and others will contribute observations on what is going on in This Busy World. Amateur Sport will remain the most important department of its kind in the country.
The Weekly will continue to present to its readers the world's news most interesting to American homes, to make important advances in both its literary and artistic features, and to retain for itself the leading place in the illustrated journalism of the world.

GRANT MONUMENT.

Will Be Formally Delivered on the 27th of April.

President Requested to Notify Other Nations of the Great Event.

New York, March 16.—Mayor Strong has sent the following letter to President McKinley: On the 27th day of April the Grant monument association proposes formally to deliver into the national custody of the city of New York the tomb of General Grant, which through the voluntary contribution of upwards of 90,000 citizens of this city has been erected in Riverside Park.

The day will be one in which the eyes of the civilized world will be turned toward this city, the fact being that the four greatest soldiers of the country are to be present to take part in the ceremonies. The committee of the Grant Monument Municipal Inaugural Committee have decided that it would be fitting and proper that the President of the United States should be invited to attend and be the honored guest of the occasion, that the Secretary of War be invited to represent the President, and that the Secretary of the Navy be invited to represent the naval part of the government. The committee also desires that the Governor of the State of New York be invited to attend with his staff, and that the Governor of the State of Illinois be invited to attend with his staff. I trust that you will be able to accept the invitation of the committee, and that the Congress of the United States will be invited to be represented by its two Houses, and that the Supreme Court of the United States be invited to be represented by its members. I trust that the Governors of the States of the Union may be invited to be present with their staffs, and that the municipal governments of the cities of the United States may be invited to be represented by their chief executives. I trust that the Governors of the Territories may be invited to be present with their staffs, and that the municipal governments of the Territories may be invited to be represented by their chief executives. I trust that the Governor of the Dominion of Canada may be invited to be present with his staff, and that the municipal government of the Dominion may be invited to be represented by its chief executive. I trust that the Governor of the Province of Quebec may be invited to be present with his staff, and that the municipal government of the Province may be invited to be represented by its chief executive. I trust that the Governor of the Province of Ontario may be invited to be present with his staff, and that the municipal government of the Province may be invited to be represented by its chief executive. I trust that the Governor of the Province of Nova Scotia may be invited to be present with his staff, and that the municipal government of the Province may be invited to be represented by its chief executive. I trust that the Governor of the Province of New Brunswick may be invited to be present with his staff, and that the municipal government of the Province may be invited to be represented by its chief executive. I trust that the Governor of the Province of Manitoba may be invited to be present with his staff, and that the municipal government of the Province may be invited to be represented by its chief executive. I trust that the Governor of the Province of British Columbia may be invited to be present with his staff, and that the municipal government of the Province may be invited to be represented by its chief executive. I trust that the Governor of the Province of Prince Edward Island may be invited to be present with his staff, and that the municipal government of the Province may be invited to be represented by its chief executive. FOOD IN THE ARCTIC

Birds Have No Difficulty Finding It in the Snow

The number of birds that go to the arctic regions to breed is vast beyond conception They go not by thousands but by millions to rear their young on the tundras. The cause which attracts them is by no means nowhere in the world does nature provide at the same time and in the same place such a lavish prodigality of food That the barren swamp of the tundras should yield a food supply so great as to tempt birds to make journeys of thousands of miles to rear their young is a land of plenty only to be found in the arctic circle seems incredible The vegetation consists of cranberry, cloudberry and crowberry bushes Forest there is the perpetual sunshine of the arctic summer these berries ripen as fruit. But the crop does not ripe until the middle and end of the arctic summer and if the fruit eating birds had to wait until it was ripe they would starve for they arrive on the very day of melting of the snow But they are the snow does seem to ripen a crop of ripe fruit before the birds have time to gather it It is then preceded by a month the snow perfectly fresh and the ground and the snow melted the bushes with their ripe crop hanging on them or ready to be eaten on the ground. The frozen meat strata extends across the breadth of Asia. It never does so in the sensible to moment the snow melts Again have taught the birds that they are able to fly to the arctic and to find such a store of very tempting foods as will last them till the birds have once established their breeding in the perpetual sunlight The birds feed on the fruit hanging into beat the insect profusion insect life in the tundras The mosquito swarms around the trees Europe and in the tundras without the insect enjoyments. The gnats are thick with them, and the clouds of insects are the sight Thus the insect life is distributed only to open the air and to fill the air with mosquitoes and the poison of insect chaff's pipits and wagtails in this arctic region is accounted for —New York Evangelist.

Could Pick Peaches Still

"Did you ever hear of the footpad?" asked the policeman who was stooping over the insensible victim and examining his injuries

"Yes" answered the man whose timely arrival had scared the murderous villain away "He was a tough looking fellow a little taller than I am and wore chin whiskers"

The prostrate man shuddered gasped and moved his lips "Could he see a real live policeman?"

"Strictly speaking" the policeman heard him mutter feebly "there is no such thing as a chin whiskers Whiskers grow on the cheeks He wore a chin beard"

Then the Boston man became unconscious again —Chicago Tribune.

THE PUGILISTS

Latest Reports from Carson City.

Carson City Nev March 16—A period of less than 24 hours remains before the greatest pugilistic encounter of the century will be decided in the arena which has made the state of Nevada a focus for the interest of the sporting fraternity throughout the world Although opinion is as to the result of the fight differ there is no doubt whatever, in the minds of those who have traveled from east and west to see the contest that both the Californian and the Australian are in the very best of condition

Corbett trainers speak enthusiastically of the condition of their man Charley White Corbett's chief adviser, said to a reporter of the United Associated Press today "Jim is in perfect shape His muscle is wonderfully developed and his wind was never better at any stage of his career

The general opinion is that Fitzsimmons is a bit on the lighter side and he will try to put on weight However this may be there is one thing certain and that is that the Australian is physical man of perfection as any man who ever entered the ring

Corbett's morning exercise today was very light and consisted more of foot work in the gymnasium A couple of games of handball with Jones Dunn Tom the Brooklyn expert and a little boxing

At Cook's ranche the contrast in training quarters was marked Shaw's sparring Fitzsimmons contented himself with a few sprints around the yard a plunge from a warm room into a still more warm bath and then the second half of the day he played quite mild games

The weather today was ideal for the fight and the ring will be in perfect condition

The betting today was still 10 to 8 on Corbett with Fitzsimmons contending that he could stand a little more than Corbett's pet requirements

Betting varied a little last night 1 stakes brought $8 against $10 but dropped to $7 50 against $10 after midnight The favorite combination betters are Corbett, Crystal Palace Smith and Corbett $1,000 against $1,000 with Fitzsimmons at even money in the coming fights

It's wonderful how much health has to do with married happiness Sickness sets the temper You can't be happy and make others happy if you are ailing When you find yourself irritable, easily worried, beginning to "run-down" it is because your blood is getting poor Your blood-making organs need to be vitalized by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery It imparts new power to produce an abundance of healthy red corpuscles, and gives you a fresh supply of pure, rich blood It's a blood-creator, it is for everyone whose blood is impure or in a poor, "run-down" condition It prevents the germs of disease from getting a hold on your system. Even after disease has settled on you, it is driven out by the blood-creating properties of the "Discovery." It is a perfect cure for general and nervous debility, catarrh, malaria, eczema, erysipelas, scrofula and every form of blood-disease It isn't called a consumption-cure but even consumption, —which has its roots in the blood—is driven out by the "Golden Medical Discovery" if taken in time. The "Discovery" is the prescription of one of the most eminent physicians and medical authorities in this country.

It's wonderful how much health has to do with married happiness Sickness sets the temper You can't be happy and make others happy if you are ailing When you find yourself irritable, easily worried, beginning to "run-down" it is because your blood is getting poor Your blood-making organs need to be vitalized by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery It imparts new power to produce an abundance of healthy red corpuscles, and gives you a fresh supply of pure, rich blood It's a blood-creator, it is for everyone whose blood is impure or in a poor, "run-down" condition It prevents the germs of disease from getting a hold on your system. Even after disease has settled on you, it is driven out by the blood-creating properties of the "Discovery." It is a perfect cure for general and nervous debility, catarrh, malaria, eczema, erysipelas, scrofula and every form of blood-disease It isn't called a consumption-cure but even consumption, —which has its roots in the blood—is driven out by the "Golden Medical Discovery" if taken in time. The "Discovery" is the prescription of one of the most eminent physicians and medical authorities in this country.

A Maine alderman thinks he has a better method for collecting taxes than any in use He contends that where the city allows a discount for early payment the greater part of the taxes comes in without any extra effort on the part of the collector and the other part usually goes over to the next year Instead of paying a collector a salary for doing little he would put the comparatively small part of the taxes remaining unpaid at the expiration of the discount period in the hands of several well known bill collectors and pay them a commission thus saving considerable of the expense and clearing up the taxes every year

Bellsworth's new mayor proposes to put into effect the following arrangement for work upon the highways He proposes to divide the roads of the city into four or five districts, possibly by wards In each of these districts he will have a foreman, who will be supplied by the aldermen from each district with the understanding that he will as far as possible give to laborers who wish to do so an opportunity to work out their taxes The money appropriated for roads will be apportioned to the various districts in proportion to the taxes paid by each district The foreman will report to the board of aldermen of work done and money expended He thinks very satisfactory results will follow and he will be willing to try the experiment with good grounds for believing it will be tested however

CITY REPORTS.

Report of Board of Health

Bangor Me March 1897

To the City Council of Bangor

Gentlemen—The Board of Health presents the following report for the year ending March 1st, 1897

The Board organized May 12th 1896 Galen M Woodcock M D, was chosen chairman and John G Goldthwait secretary The Board held many informal conferences and such regular meetings as occasion and work demanded Our work has been about the same as in previous years The amount of work executed however, has by far been greater than ever before

Our management of infectious diseases is the same as formerly It is of death from such diseases as are usually strictly private, without publicity to the community, and the information is as positive We have one of Prof Rutiers new disinfecting lamps called the Formic Aldehyde Generator, to use in cases of infectious diseases which we think is a great improvement over the old way of sulphur fumigation and very much more safe It takes but four hours with this lamp to fumigate a room and we feel when we get through with it that the disease germs are all killed and that the room is safe to use This lamp has been thoroughly tested and has proved all that they claim for it

The physicians are very prompt in reporting infectious diseases

The number of deaths from diseases for the year ending January 31st, 1897 is 401 the death rate being about 16 for 1000 and which is very small

There have been this year seven cases of diphtheria with two deaths twenty seven cases of scarlet fever with two deaths—these last cases were mostly in one family and only five cases of typhoid fever with two deaths have been reported to the board

Only twenty four schools have had any contagious disease The last house has been used but once this year and that was for a case of diphtheria—a man that came here on the Boston boat on Saturday and was thrown off our hands the day sick and had to be taken therefor treatment A woman came here in May from Ellsworth sick with diphtheria and lived but a few days so we had only five cases of diphtheria with one death, this year as two of the cases did not originate in Bangor

We are pleased to note that sixteen hundred feet of new sewer have been laid and that a large number of houses and sink drains have been connected with the sewers Four hundred new water closets connected with the public sewers have been made and put in this year which will do away with some two hundred earth closets or privies

Of the new sewers built this year from a sanitary standpoint, the extension of the so called Cart brook sewer was the most important About 160 feet were built which was a great improvement We hope the incoming city government will see that this sewer is extended to Pine street from Date street We would call your attention to the need of sewers on Pearl street, running north from Garland street, also on the upper end of Date and Palm streets These streets are quite thickly settled and are very much in need of drainage A sewer is very much needed on Main street, running north from the Gin Bridge a few hundred feet, also on Main street on the east side near Larkin and Sidney streets These places need your attention very much These sewers are not expensive and we hope to see them built this year

We would again call your attention to the need of something being done in the way of drainage for the property on the north corner of Broad and Union streets This is a bad place and should be attended to this spring A sewer should be provided so a number of old privies could be removed and by so doing the place could be kept clean As it is now it cannot be kept clean

Through this report we earnestly request every citizen to interest himself in the sanitary condition of his own premises and early in the spring to see that they are properly cleaned All decaying matter and everything that may cause sickness should be removed.

We gladly take this opportunity to thank all citizens and particularly the physicians for the cordial support which they have given us in the performance of our duties, also the city council and city officials for their uniform kindness

Report of the Truant Officer

To the City Council of Bangor

I herewith respectfully report the following work in the Truancy Department during the past municipal year:

Scholars looked up and parents or guardians interviewed, where the result was subsequent attendance	264
Scholars arrested and taken to school room directly	90
Scholars prosecuted and sent to House of Correction	2
Scholars prosecuted and sent to Reform School during minority	1

The 364 cases reported above do not represent that number of different individuals; some of them are looked up and given a new trial many times, while others are importantly detained and do better afterwards.

Strict attention to the duties of this office are of grave importance, as there are [illegible]

[illegible] requires constant vigilance to keep them in their places

FLOYD'S FIRE

Unkind Comments of a Skeptical Technical Journal

The Cincinnati Enquirer is responsible for the statement that a substance has been discovered which is practically an unquenchable fire, says Electricity It describes it as of the consistency of paste, harmless while in a quiet state but blazing forth with a brilliant and unquenchable flame of the greatest intensity the slightest touch of fire

There is no explosion or rapid spreading of flames but a straight pasty substance composed of living fire which cannot be stamped out or killed in any known way The cost of making this liquid fire is so small that it can be easily used instead of coal in heating a furnace But the most valuable property is that those which are so easily ignited fires are known to us All forms of heat except that of electricity must be generated in some kind of fire and it must be constantly supplied with fuel But this fire is both heat and fuel itself This wonderful fire can be utilized in the kitchen and stoves can be dispensed with altogether as only a small amount of fire is necessary to hang the pan from a wire and smear over the bottom with a spoonful of the liquid

So that the cook of the future can take fire out into the country

Of its practical uses there is no end for the subject is yet in its infancy

The name of the inventor of it is past is given as Floyd but what Floyd is not stated nor is it stated that the paste is a electric product except by implication That implication is so strong however that we are irresistibly forced to the conclusion that it is either concentrated electricity it offers is a product of electricity

We are always very careful ourselves not to make any statements not fully supported by unquestioned and undubitable controvertible facts and do not wish to be misleading Now Circumstantial evidence is sometimes as convincing as any that is more direct and is often more difficult to controvert and the evidence at hand that the unquenchable fire is what we assert it to be is none other than the statement that it is still in its infancy

We do not see, however that Floyd's fire is anything remarkable It is stated that to fry anything it is only necessary to hang the pan from a wire and smear over the bottom with a spoonful of the liquid and that the cook of the future can take her fire into the country

That is quite commonplace but if the stuff would hang itself from a wire in a pan and take the cook out into the country, or the pan would hang the spoon in its bottom and smear the cook over the country, or the spoon should wire the cook that the fire was smeared over its bottom—If it was possible we should say any of these things about it, then we should say that Floyd's deathless fire was out of the ordinary and likely to be useful

Stop Women,

And Consider the All-Important Fact,

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience in treating woman's diseases is greater than that of any living physician—male or female

You can talk freely to a woman when it is revolting to relate your private troubles to a man—besides, a man does not understand—simply because he is a man

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probably examinations of even their family physician It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman, whose knowledge from actual experience is greater than any local physician in the world The following invitation is freely offered, to accept it in the same spirit.

MRS. PINKHAM'S STANDING INVITATION

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by woman only A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman, there has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken.

Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has [illegible]

LIKE HYPNOTISM.

Habits That Appear Almost Hypnotic.

The tenacity with which some habits stick to people, or people stick to the habits, is very remarkable, particularly the tobacco and coffee habit.

People act almost as if they were in reality under a hypnotic spell. They promise themselves and friends time and again that they will leave off, when they find health forsaking them, but they make one excuse or another and keep on the dreary way as if guided by an unseen spirit of evil.

Physicians realize the uselessness of treating a patient for any of the multitude of nervous diseases so long as the poisonous alkaloids of tobacco and coffee are being taken into the system, even in minute doses.

It is a simple matter to break the coffee spell if the food drink, Postum, the health coffee made by the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., of Battle Creek, Mich., is used in its place. This is a fac-simile of fine Mocha coffee in looks when brewed, and changes to the rich golden brown of old Java when cream is added. Being made wholly of grains intended by the Creator for man's subsistence, it makes red blood quickly and is fattening and nourishing. The muddy complexion disappears and in its place comes the clear skin of health with rich blood coursing back of it. Many people are sick and do not know that it is the insidious poison of coffee that prostrates stomach and liver and causes it. They laugh at first, but a trial of a week without coffee and using the food-drink Postum, makes one wake up to a great big live fact.

The children can sip from papa's or mamma's coffee cup, if it happens to contain Postum and their little bodies will grow round and fat under the nourishment of the pure grains, but it is a heartless proceeding to feed the tender bodies on coffee, as everyone knows the puny, sickly looks of coffee drinking children.

Let people adopt healthful food and drink and "throw physic to the dogs."

"Just as good" as Postum Cereal are words used to defraud the public.

Among the new lines to be constructed by the New England Telephone Company this spring are the following: A line from Pittsfield to Hartland; one from Skowhegan to Bingham, and probably through to Pat Murphy's place on Dead river, about 65 miles from Skowhegan; and a line from Newport to Dexter.

The senior class of the East Maine Conference Seminary has elected officers as follows: President, Ralph N. Knight, Dover-Foxcroft; vice-president, Belle Buck, Orland; secretary, Grace Pendleton, Milesboro; treasurer, Oscar Barnard, Orrland. The class has about the average number of members this year. The graduation exercises will be held on June 2.

A despatch received in this city announces that Albert E. Maine, who belongs in Massachusetts, but has recently resided in Bangor, was killed in Boston Monday. No particulars were given and nothing further has been received regarding the case. He was a brother-in-law of Charles F. Johns, proprietor of the Oriental lunch rooms on Exchange street.

Governor Powers and Hon. P. O. Vickery visited the Maine Insane Hospital at Augusta Monday, says the Kennebec Journal, and had a consultation with the superintendent and treasurer, after which it was decided to change the resolve before the Legislature from $17,500 to $15,000 a year for two years, the same to go to build the new power house and coal pocket, leaving the tramway to be provided for in the future.

The funeral services of Mrs. W. F. Reed, wife of the late Sheriff Reed, were held Tuesday afternoon at her late residence on Cumberland street, and there was a large attendance of friends. The floral display was beautiful. Among it was an artistic design from the Elks. Rev. E. F. Pember, pastor of the Universalist church, officiated and the Apollo Quartette sang several selections. The pall bearers were Messrs. J. F. Cook, Chief of Police L. W. Gilman, M. A. Sinclair and Ambrose Fogg. Mr. A. P. Chick had charge of the funeral.

A Mile correspondent writes as follows concerning the Medford fatality previously reported: Sunday afternoon, as Fred Sargent, of Medford, in this county, was handling a rifle, the weapon was discharged sending a bullet through his heart, killing him instantly. All of the family except his grandmother were attending Sabbath school a half mile away when the sad affair happened, but were quickly apprised of what had taken place and reached home as soon as possible, only to find the young man dead. The deceased was twenty-one years of age, and an exemplary young man, who will be much missed in the community where he has resided a number of years. He was the son of George A. Sargent, who came to that town several years ago from Massachusetts.

Monday night, Winfield J. Hudson, a Maine Central brakeman, who is known in Bangor, had both legs crushed while shackling cars in the Maine Central freight yards in Portland. He stepped between two freight cars to pull the pin out which held them together, the cars moving slowly at the time, when he slipped on the ice between the rails and fell under the wheels. Before the train could be stopped both wheels of the car had passed over his legs. The right leg was crushed below the knee, while the left leg was badly crushed just above the knee and broken in several places. Hudson is 25 years old and boarded at Bradley's Corner. He has been in the employ of the Maine Central for about five years. He is unmarried, but has a mother and grandmother living. The young man displayed great courage and bore the pain most plucky. Hudson was very much liked by his fellow workmen. His recovery is doubtful.

The Most Successful Specialist.

The remarkable cures performed by Dr. Greene, the distinguished specialist, are the best proof of his skill and the efficacy of his treatment. Dr. Greene's wonderful remedies, in fact the only effectual remedies in many diseases, have made his name famous throughout the country. If you are afflicted consult him. You can consult Dr. Greene personally or by letter free. Call or write to Dr. Greene, 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass. He has developed the most perfect and successful system of cure through correspondence. The effects of overwork, excesses and all diseases of the blood and nerves are Dr. Greene's special practice. A cure is practically certain.

The first lecture in the Theological Seminary Bond course will occur in the Hammond street church on Friday evening.

The Opera House will not be opened today for the prize fight returns as intended, the plans having been changed last evening.

Next Friday evening, Mr. George F. Lull, of the Penobscot Chemical Fibre Company, will speak upon the process of converting wood into pulp and fibre for paper, at the Y. M. C. A. building and many will doubtless attend, as the talk will be of much interest.

Sealed proposals for printing the annual reports of the city of Bangor, from local printers, will be received at the city clerk's office. Specifications may be obtained at the office of the city clerk, and all bids to be submitted on or before Monday, the 22nd inst., at ten o'clock, a. m.

Mr. Hiram Gould, of East Corinth, has had the remains of his son, R. C. Gould, who died in Leadville some years ago, and of his grand-daughter, Mrs. Ella Kenney, who died recently in Bridgeport, Conn., brought to Corinth and interred in the family lot at the cemetery. Mrs. R. C. Gould and her son-in-law, Mr. Kenney, accompanied the remains to Corinth.

The extensive improvements in charge of Jan ter Bragdon continue at the court house, and they add greatly to its convenience and appearance. County Treasurer H. L. Stubbs will occupy his office today, after the painting, rearrangement of counters and desks, laying of oil cloth on the floor, etc. Similar attention will be begun today on Clerk of Courts Sweet's offices. Register of Deeds J. T. Bowler's offices have received a fine coat of paint, cleansing, etc. The supreme court room is being washed and cleansed on the walls and some painting will be done. The jury rooms are also being made more comfortable and convenient.

Col. J. B. Peaks, of Dover, came to Bangor yesterday to try the case of Cohen vs. Manuel, a civil action in which Jacob Cohen, a peddler of Bangor, sues A. O. Manuel, an inn-keeper, of Henderson, for the recovery of goods valued at something over $75, the personal property of said Cohen. Cohen was riding through the country with a cart and goods and stopped at Manuel's house for one night. During that night some person at present unknown, stole the horse, wagon and goods. Cohen sues Manuel for alleged carelessness in keeping his property at the inn. Col. Peaks intended to try the case in the Municipal Court, but has by decided to file a petition taking it to the Supreme Court where it will be heard during the April term in this city.

The latest thing to compete with sawed boards is the wood fibre box. It is made of pulp, something after the style of fibre wooden ware. It is supported by a light frame around the outside, and has no jute except at the corners. It looks as if the time would come when wood grinding will be a bigger industry than saw milling. Improved methods of reduction are likely to be such that everything in the shape of wood and bark will be converted into pulp. A concern in Wisconsin now is buying millions of feet of hemlock to be worked up into fibre. The wood pulp business, when it reaches its full development, will utilize much timber that cannot be converted into lumber, and thus hasten the extinction of our forests, unless vigorous and widespread measures shall be taken to cultivate and plant anew. More New England and New York spruce is worked into pulp than is cut into lumber. This fibre business, moreover, will greatly add to the value of standing timber and timber lands, because it will render wood saleable that once went to waste, remarks the Northwestern Lumberman.

T. S. Moor, Treasurer.

Bangor, March 16, 1897.

I have examined the accounts of T. S. Moor, Treasurer of the Mattawamkeag Log Driving Company, since his last settlement and find them correctly cast and properly vouched, and showing a balance in his hands of five hundred eighty dollars and forty-seven cents ($580.47).

George S. Chalmers, Auditor.

The following officers were elected:

President, C. P. Webber (re-elected.)

Clerk and Treasurer, Charles H. Adams.

Directors, E. Gilpatrick, W. Johnson and E. J. Bryson.

There were two candidates for clerk and treasurer, Charles H. Adams, of Kimball, Adams & Co., and George S. Chalmers, of Adams & Co.

Messrs. M. Johnson, of Macwahoc, and A. W. Byron, of Lincoln, were voted in as members.

The directors met at 2 30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and the drive was let at auction. John McCausland, of Kingman, was the successful bidder at the following rates for the first drive:

Gellerson boom	$ 29½ per M
Mattaseunk	28 "
Smith Brook	28½ "
Hilliock	24½ "
Sandy Stream	24½ "
Mouth of Molunkus	24½ "
Mattaskunk	22½ "

The second drive will be taken care of at the rate of 5 cents more per thousand than the first drive and the third at the rate of 10 cents more than the first. Last year the driving was done by Chambers Hinch & Kelley, of Danforth. The Mattawamkeag drive this year will contain about 50,000,000 logs, much of which is pulp wood. Hinch & Kelley, of Danforth, are among the largest operators and they will get 5,000,000.

Bucksport Seminary Association.

The third annual reunion of the Bucksport Seminary Association will be held on Friday, April 9th, at 7.30 p. m. at Hotel Brunswick, corner of Boylston and Clarendon streets, Boston. In accordance with numerous suggestions, the executive committee has decided to have the reunion of 1897 take the form of a reception with light refreshments, in order that the members may have better opportunity to enjoy the social features of the evening. Music will be furnished by an orchestra. Two or three short addresses may be expected and Misses Nash, Hooper and Pilsbury will entertain with vocal and instrumental selections. There will be no annual assessment, and no subscription papers of any nature will be circulated. Tickets at one dollar each may be obtained from Mr. Oscar Storer, 53 State street, Boston, room 1000. All are requested to promptly notify him how many tickets they desire so that ample provision may be made for all who wish to be present. The largest and most successful reunion yet held is expected.

Mock Trial and Social.

At the Y. M. C. A. last evening the members were pleasantly entertained by a mock trial and social. Many were present. At the trial Mr. T. D. Bailey was the presiding justice and Secretary R. A. Jordan and Mr. Harry Freese were the attorneys. The trial brought out many amusing features. The prisoner was decided by the jury to be not guilty but was advised not to do so again. After the trial refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening was passed socially and very pleasantly.

THE FILTER PLANT.

Superintendent Aggie of the Cumberland Manufacturing Company Has No Fears Regarding a Suit Against the City.

Superintendent Franklin Aggie, of the Cumberland Manufacturing Company, of Boston, which put in Bangor's filter plant at the water works, arrived in the city yesterday morning from Boston, and had a talk with members of the Water Board concerning the threatened suit of the New York Filter Manufacturing Company against the city, if the filter plant was put in.

It will be remembered that a letter was received in this city early in February from John R. Fennelt, Esq., counsel of the New York Manufacturing Company, stating that suit would be brought if the city allowed the Cumberland Manufacturing Company to put in the filters, as it was claimed that they were an infringement upon the Hyatt patent of the New York company.

Superintendent Aggie stated yesterday that he had no fears of any suit being brought. He said that during the nine years in which the Cumberland Manufacturing Company had been putting in these same filters in various places, each plant had received a veteran, as he called it, similar to that received in Bangor but that no suits had ever been brought by the New York Filter Manufacturing Company against them and he did not believe any would be in this case.

Several mills on the Penobscot use the filters of the Cumberland Manufacturing Company but it had never called forth a lawsuit. Mr. Aggie says that his company has not infringed upon the Hyatt patent and that there is no cause for any action at law by the New York company. Mr. Aggie left on last evening's train on his return to Boston.

While it would seem that the New York company has no occasion to bring a suit against the city, yet, in order to be on the safe side, the final payment of $7,000 on the filter plant will be withheld by the city until the Cumberland Manufacturing Company gives absolute assurance that there is no danger of any suit.

AMUSEMENTS.

Prof. Carpenter.

Prof. Carpenter, the hypnotist, furnished the usual amount of fun last evening at The Norombega by the performances of his subjects who appeared upon the stage to receive his hypnotic treatment. He will close his engagement of little over a week this evening and will doubtless have the customary audience in attendance.

"O'Brien, the Contractor."

"O'Brien, the Contractor" which Daniel Scully is to present at the Opera House, Friday, March 19, has for one unique effect a realistic track laying scene with foreman, strikers and others in a stirring struggle. The railroad construction and the rock blasting are features said to be so realistic and natural that it is hard for a spectator to believe he is not watching in reality the completion of a line of railroad. The strike between Italian and Irish workmen and the final restoration of order by the bold front and determined manner of O'Brien, the contractor, and his ultimate successful fulfillment of the contract or bond by the driving of the "golden spike" in the face of difficulty and danger are prominent points. The play is said to be replete with deft touches of humor and pathos combined with a story of interest. The stage settings and scenery are carried complete.

Base Ball Notes.

Mr. Curtis Toole returned yesterday from the Maine Base Ball League meeting in Augusta on Monday and reports an harmonious and encouraging session of the representatives of Augusta, Portland, Lewiston, Belfast, Rockland and Bangor. The outlook is very promising and Mr. Toole proposed to have Bangor represented by a strong team which will play such excellent ball as the Bangor public has been used to.

The Portland team is complete, a nine having been transferred bodily from Michigan.

The baseball men in Belfast have already raised $1000 for the team and expect to get $500 more. Upon the occasion of the first Belfast-Bangor game in this city, a large excursion, with a band, will be run here from Belfast. It will be very much like be old-time rivalry.

Upon the suggestion of Mr. Toole at Monday's meeting it was arranged that one day a week should be set apart for ladies' day, on which no admission would be charged them.

A committee was appointed consisting of W. H. Long, Curtis Toole and M. J. Garrity, to serve on a schedule committee. This committee will meet and report to the association, April 15, the place to be decided upon by the president.

The franchise for the Lewiston club has been placed with Secretary Garrity, who says he will probably get some one to run it for him.

Belfast is in correspondence with Mike McDermott, manager of last year's Bangors, with a view to obtaining his services as manager and it is probable that the arrangement will be made.

The Bangors will play some exhibition games before the regular season opens on May 20. The Maine State College team wants a date.

Dorthiok Club Concert.

The Dorthiok Club concert last evening in the Central church vestry was largely attended and enjoyable. It was devoted to Gounod and Chopin compositions. All of the selections were excellent and the chorus, directed by Mr. F. B. Davenport, sang finely. The analysis was read by Mrs. E. E. Peck. The programme was arranged by Miss Edith M. Bradford and was as follows:

"Praise Ye the Father," Chorus.

"Sing, Smile, Slumber," violin obligato, Mr. Sawyer, Miss Higgins.

"There is a Green Hill Far Away," Mr. James T. Hayden.

Bonde in C, Mrs. Ayer, Mrs. Tuck.

"Flower Song," Faust, Miss Kirkpatrick.

Ballade in G minor, Chopin, Mrs. Ralph Flanders.

"Ave Maria," violin obligato, Miss Laura Tefft.

"Soldiers' Chorus," Faust, Chorus.

Sold the "Holland Potato Digger."

Mr. George N. Holland, of Hampden, proprietor of the "Holland Potato Digger," has sold out to Mr. John J. Frye, of Portland. Mr. Holland says: "I am pleased to sell to a Maine man and one of such sterling qualities as Mr. Frye, who is a large manufacturer of farm implements, among which is the celebrated 'Frye Plow.'"

COURT CASES

Which Were Settled on Tuesday.

Matteo Infiorati, who keeps a fruit store on Central street, was before the Municipal Court yesterday charged with keeping a gambling place. Besides his regular stock he has dice and slot machines and it has been charged that small boys were using the devices of chance considerably.

Chief Gilman and Deputy Chief Bowen notify the keeper that he must stop the practice. Deputy Bowen testified in court that he had notified Infiorati a half-dozen times without effect. On Monday, after hearing the boys tell how they had gambled in the Infiorati shop, Deputy Bowen and Patrolman Knight visited the place and found the owner in the act of shaking the dice with customers and recovered the appliances. He was arrested. In court Infiorati protested his innocence; thought he was being abused; never let the boys gamble in his shop and said the boys lied. He pleaded not guilty. He was fined $10 and costs and paid.

Andrew Flanegan and George Campbell were before the court charged with the larceny of jars of blackberry preserves from the house of Charles Howard. In court the boys pleaded guilty to the charges. Judge Vose sentenced Flanegan to the Reform School during his minority.

Campbell's father was in court and promised to care for him so that he should be kept straight. The boy was sentenced to the payment of a fine of $1 and the costs, or $7 83.

John Murray and Joseph Lawler were arraigned for fighting in the Waverly house, Bangor. Lawler was sentenced to 60 days in jail and Murray was fined $10 and the costs which he paid.

KENTUCKY SENATORSHIP.

Republicans Will Be Able to Elect at This Session.

Frankfort, Ky., March 16. Five new senators, four Republicans and one Democrat, were sworn in this morning. The Blackburn senators attempted to refer the credentials but were outvoted. This means that the Republicans will be able to elect a United States Senator at this session.

Anti-Trust Bills.

Albany, N. Y., March 16. The Governor's legal adviser, Charles Z. Lincoln, has completed the preparation of the two anti-trust bills which are intended to carry out the recommendations of the Lexow trust investigating committee. The first bill is entitled: "An act to amend the stock corporation law relating to annual reports and liabilities of officers, directors and stockholders of foreign stock corporations." The second bill, which is the more important of the two, is called "an act to prevent monopolies in articles or commodities of common use and to prohibit the restraint of trade and commerce, providing penalties
